FLAGSTAFF FESTIVAL IN THE PINES®

In the "Cool Pines" of Northern Arizona

Produced by Andrew Maguire & Associates, LLC
Brought to you by the Greater Flagstaff Chamber of Commerce

Dear Vendor:

Andrew Maguire and the Greater Flagstaff Chamber of Commerce is proud to bring back the 24th year for Flagstaff Festival in the Pines July 4th, 5th and 6th, 2019. This Festival has been an Arizona tradition for over twenty years and located at the Fort Tuthill Fairgrounds, part of a 350-acre county park surrounded by National Forest. The entrance to the Fairgrounds is located south of Flagstaff, at exit 337 (Flagstaff Airport) on Interstate 17.

Flagstaff and the Grand Canyon area are two of the top tourist destinations in the country. Located just to the south is Sedona, a very artistic community as well as a popular tourist stop million people tour the Grand Canyon National Park each year. Arizonans and tourists alike find the cool pines of Flagstaff a great place to escape in the summer when temperatures rise well above 100 degrees in Phoenix Valley and surrounding areas. The Arizona Republic newspaper recently published several articles on the baby boomer generation's fascination with buying and building cabins (second homes really), particularly in Arizona. All this has made Flagstaff Festival in the Pines as one of Arizona's most sought after Festivals. Tens of thousands of visitors come to Flagstaff for 4th of July weekend for the cool weather, the Greater Flagstaff Chamber 4th of July parade, and the Symphony Orchestra. The long standing reputation of this fine arts and crafts festival is another reason why Flagstaff is named the #1 destination for Independence Day weekend.

We have planned radio, television and print promotions for Flagstaff Festival in the Pines that will be broadcast and displayed in Flagstaff, Scottsdale, Phoenix and the Valley of the Sun, as well as other areas throughout Northern Arizona. Continuous live entertainment is planned for the main stage along with several strolling musicians and performers. A fascinating children's area will provide hands-on arts and crafts entertainment for children of all ages. All this entertainment, combined with mouth-watering food, will assure a festive atmosphere at Flagstaff Festival in the Pines.

There is a $10.00 admission fee to attend the Flagstaff Festival in the Pines. Children 12 and under are free.

Enclosed is an application and other information required for your participation. Space is limited, artists and slides are juried in order of receipt, and therefore, we encourage you to apply now.
